SPECIAL NOTE

On 17-18 October 2019 the 49th meeting of the Glossary and Thesaurus Working Group (GTWG) took place in Sliema, Malta. The meeting, jointly organised by EASO, which has been contributing to the development of the glossary for several years, was hosted by the Maltese EMN National Contact Point (NCP) and went far beyond the regular GTWG meetings. The aim of this meeting was two-fold: to further promote the EMN Glossary on Asylum and Migration as one of the key products of the European Migration Network (EMN), and to explore opportunities to enhance cooperation with other EU institutions and agencies working on terminology in the field of asylum and migration. In this regard, the EMN Glossary could serve as the key reference point of access. The event brought together representatives of the EMN GTWG, DG Home and DIGIT, EASO, Frontex as well as the Translations Office of the EU, the Court of Justice and the Council of the EU. Follow-up meetings are planned to deepen cooperation on content and on technology.

The EMN published two studies in October - December 2019. The study on 'Beneficiaries of international protection travelling to and contacting authorities of their country of origin: challenges, policies and practices in the EU Member States, Norway and Switzerland' was published on 5 November. It offers a comparative overview of the experiences and existing practices in 24 EU Member States, Norway and Switzerland regarding beneficiaries of international protection who travel back to their country of origin, or who have contact with authorities from these countries. The study also examines the motivations of the individuals in question, and how such cases would be assessed by the national authorities in the countries that granted them refugee status.

The latest EMN study on “Migratory Pathways for Start-ups and Innovative Entrepreneurs in the EU”, published on 18 December 2019, provides an overview of the migratory pathways available to start-ups and innovative entrepreneurs in the EU by exploring the policies and practices in 25 Member States to attract and retain start-ups and innovative entrepreneurs. To what extent is the attraction and retention of entrepreneurs and start-up founders a policy priority for EU Member States? What are the requirements for obtaining a start-up visa/residence permit or other type of residence permit/visa for innovative entrepreneurs? What challenges and good practices are in place? Find out more by having a look at the study package, available here.

Judgment of the European Court of Justice – Case C-381/18

On 12 December 2019, the Court of Justice clarified the possibility for Member States to confer a right of family reunification on certain members of a refugee’s family, and also the conditions to which such a right is or may be made subject. The ECJ held that a Member State may, in order to authorise the family reunification of a refugee’s sister, require her to be unable to provide for her own needs on account of her state of health. However, that inability must be assessed having regard to the special situation of refugees and at the end of a case-by-case examination. In addition, such family reunification may be authorised only if it is ascertained, in the same way, that the material support of the person concerned is actually provided by the refugee, or that the refugee appears as the most able to provide that support. Regarding the compatibility of national legislation with Directive 2003/86, the Court found that Member States may choose to confer that right on members of a refugee’s family, such as siblings, who are not expressly listed in Directive. In addition, ECJ underlined that Member States have significant latitude both to decide to give effect to that extension of the personal scope of the directive and to determine the family members concerned but it should be ensured that the family member concerned is ‘dependent’ on the refugee.

Judgment of the European Court of Justice

Case C-233/18

On 12 November, the Court of Justice ruled that an applicant for international protection guilty of serious breaches of the rules of the accommodation centre in which he or she is hosted or of seriously violent behaviour cannot be sanctioned by a withdrawal of material reception conditions relating to housing, food or clothing. According to the Court, the withdrawal, even temporary, of the full set of material reception conditions or of material reception conditions relating to housing, food or clothing would be irreconcilable with the requirement to ensure a dignified standard of living for the applicant.

penalties imposed on carriers transporting non-EU nationals lacking the necessary admission documents into the EU territories (in relation to article 4 of the directive (EU) 2001/51/CE (art. 141, 147 and 148).

- ★ Italy: 392 asylum seekers were redistributed in Europe from September to December as part of relocation procedures initiated by the European Commission at Italy's request. This is a concrete result linked to the more effective European solidarity consolidated also as a result of the Valletta Pre-Agreement signed in September by Germany, France, Italy and Malta.

On 28 October 2019, the Italian Minister of the Interior Luciana Lamorgese received a delegation from the Home and Territorial Affairs Commission of the German Bundestag. - ★ Netherlands: In November 2019, a relatively high influx of Moldovan citizens arrived with busses to the central application centre in the Netherlands. The vast majority of them have previously applied unsuccessfully for asylum in other EU Member States. In December 2019, the Dutch government reported additional measures against the high influx of Moldovan asylum applicants. Measures include handling these applications by a special team within the Immigration and Naturalization Service (IND) with the aim to reduce the application procedure to a maximum period of three to four weeks. Moreover, Moldovan applicants will be housed in more austere reception facilities, there is a focus on return as well as a targeted approach on detaining applicants when necessary and possible. More attention is also given to tackling smugglers who bring Moldovan migrants to the Netherlands, and there have been constructive talks with the Moldovan authorities on the facilitation of return.<sup>1</sup>

Afghan interpreters who have worked for Dutch missions in Afghanistan will be classified as a 'systematically prosecuted group'. asylum in another country. The Dutch Minister for Migration announced this in a letter to Dutch parliament on 18 December 2019 in response to the parliament's request to do so.<sup>2</sup>

The Minister for Migration has sent a letter to Parliament on 18 December 2019, in which she announced new measures for those asylum applicants who through disruptive and transgressive behavior are regularly causing nuisance within and outside reception centres in the Netherlands.<sup>3</sup> The most important measures are:

- Applicants from safe countries of origin generally have a low chance of being granted asylum in the Netherlands. Furthermore, they are involved more than average in behaviour causing nuisance and/or in criminal behaviour. They will be housed separately from other applicants and will receive more austere reception facilities in order to deter them from coming to the Netherlands.
- For the same reason, asylum applicants within the Dublin procedure will also receive more austere reception facilities.
- The Minister for Migration will release a budget of 1 million euros to municipalities to finance (small-scale) measures against public nuisance caused by asylum applicants in their municipalities in 2020;
- From February 2020 onwards, asylum applicants who have been involved in serious disruptive and transgressive behaviour in reception centres can be relocated to a so-called Enforcement and Supervision Location (Handhaving en Toezichtslocatie - HTL).

★ Sweden: On 27 November 2019, a legislation modification regarding asylum seekers living on their own was prepared in view of restricting daily allowance for asylum seekers who choose to live in areas with socioeconomic challenges. The aim of this amendment, which entered into force on 1 January 2020, is to encourage asylum seekers to live where there are conditions for a socially sustainable reception and less risk of negative social consequences. The areas that are included will be listed by the Swedish Migration Agency starting 1 July 2020. The change originates from the "January agreement" – a political agreement between the Social Democrats, the Centre Party, the Liberal Party and the Swedish Green Party.

In November, the Irish Court of Appeal overturned a High Court ruling from July 2019 that applicants for Irish citizenship must have “unbroken” residence in Ireland in the year before they apply. - ★ Netherlands: During the Brexit extension period, UK nationals and their family members keep their rights as EU citizens to live, work and study in the Netherlands in any event until the date of Brexit. They do not need the temporary residence permit they received from the Immigration and Naturalisation Service (IND) in March 2019 or October 2019 during the extension period.

It is still important that UK nationals keep the temporary residence permit they have received, because after the extension, a no-deal Brexit is still possible. UK nationals and their family members can use the temporary residence permit to show that they are entitled to live, work and study in the Netherlands after a no-deal Brexit in the national transition period up to and including 31 January 2021.

Many UK nationals and their family members who are registered in the Personal Records Database (Basisregistratie Personen) already received a temporary residence permit before 29 March. These permits are valid up to and including 30 June 2020. If it is certain that there will be a no-deal Brexit, the IND will again send these UK nationals and their family members a temporary residence permit valid during the 15-month transition period after a no-deal Brexit.<sup>15</sup>

Third-country nationals holding a Working Holiday Program (WHP) or Working Holiday Scheme (WHS) permit are as of 1 October 2019 again allowed to work without a work permit for a period longer than 12 weeks for the same employer. An added condition is that the Dutch Employee Insurance Agency (UWV) must be notified of a vacancy three weeks in advance. Only then may an application be filed for a combined work and residence permit. Chefs working in a specialised restaurant in the Asian catering industry can be granted a combined permit. The UWV assesses the labour market aspects.

NATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

- ★ Croatia: In October, the European Commission submitted a Communication to the European Parliament and the Council on the verification of the full implementation of the Schengen acquis in Croatia, stating that the Republic of Croatia fulfilled the technical criteria.

To reinforce the protection of the EU's external border, portable systems for recognising and reading vehicle license plates and thermal imaging cameras as well as border crossing equipment (devices for measuring the density of materials, computers, travel documents readers, cameras...) were purchased. A technical protection system was established at 4 border crossings and 2 new border crossing points were finished.

50 officers were referred to two border police courses, and three seminars for trainers/multipliers for the protection of the national border were held for about 60 police officers at the EU internal and external borders. Only adult citizens of the European Union and European Economic Community who have a biometric passport can check in at the ABC gates. This solution improves the border control process and increases the capacity of the border crossing, and thus reduces the waiting time of travellers for crossing the state border.

Another group of 30 Border Guard officers began the 12th change of mission in the Republic of Northern Macedonia, supporting the local Border Police in counteracting the migration crisis. The mission is attended by officers from Regional Border Guard Departments as well as from the Central Border Guard Training Center and the Home Office of the Border Guard.
